

Northrop Wins Semipro Tilt

The Northrop Bombers made an auspicious debut in the 1942 national semipro baseball tournament at Wichita, Kans., Tuesday night by smashing the El Paso (Texas) Giants 15 to 0 in seven innings. Tillie Schaffer struck out 18 men for the winners, who had traveled to the tourney as "guest team" in the meet.

Schafer yielded only two hits and needed but three strikeouts to tie the national tournament record of 21 held by Bud Fisher of Fort Crook, Neb. The Bombers scored 12 runs in the fourth on four hits, eight walks, one error, two passed balls and four stolen bases. They collected nine hits off three El Paso pitchers.

Judge Parent's Friends Report His Background

The hundreds of friends of Judge Frank D. Parent of Inglewood City Court are rallying for his election to Office No. 2 of the Inglewood Township Justice Court, it reported today.

The pioneer judge who has been a civic leader in the entire area for more than a quarter century and who has been City Judge in Inglewood for 12 years, has presided in the Courts of Hawthorne, El Segundo, Torrance and Long Beach, including presiding in both offices No. 1 and 2 of Inglewood Township as Justice of the Peace.

He now is president of the Inglewood Township Bar Association. A practicing attorney in California for 28 years, Judge Parent has never hesitated to do his share in civic affairs of benefit to the public at large. A graduate of Kansas University Law School, Judge Parent was County Attorney of Dickinson County, Kansas, and practiced law in that state and in Missouri. Since coming to California he has had a deep interest in education and served for 14 years as a trustee of Inglewood Union High School District.

Guard Company To Lose 15 Men As School Opens

The Torrance-Lomita State Guard company encamped at Torrance park stands to lose more than a third of its active complement with the opening of the fall school term, officers said this week.

Already two short of the full company strength of 42, the company will lose 15 youths returning to school.

Now guarding the Torrance water works and a bridge near North Long Beach, the company may be forced either to curtail its functions here or withdraw entirely, officers said in an appeal for new enlistees.

Physically-fit men between ages of 18 and 50 are eligible to join up, will get $60 a month as privates, and food and lodging, clothing and medical care.

The City of Torrance is now building the company a new frame barracks, demanded by Lieut. Chalmers Dulmage, commanding officer.

County CD Council Issues 16 Miles of Official Armbands

More than 16 miles of armbands for civilian defense personnel have been issued by the Los Angeles County Defense Council, according to Harold W. Kennedy, executive director.

The bands, 56,515 of them, were made by a sewing project at the request of the defense council and have been distributed to defense councils in the unincorporated territory and to cities not receiving equipment from the OCD.

SHIDLER URGES CHILD CARE—"We don't want any 'Dead-End kid gangs' growing up in this district," John A. Shidler, Democratic candidate for Congress in both the Special and Primary elections next Tuesday, points out to some local youngsters as he shows them how public nursery schools can provide safe play facilities here. Shidler asserts war-workers' and service men's children must be given proper care if their mothers are to stay on the production line. This District has not received its just share of available Federal funds for such schools, he said, because it lacks a Representative in Congress to press for action here.

Repeat Reasons On State Income Tax Announced

Sacramento Supporters of Proposition 4. Repeal of the State Personal Income Tax, have filed with Secretary of State Paul Peek, the affirmative argument which will accompany sample ballots mailed to voters throughout the state. Arguments advanced in favor of a 'Yes' vote on Proposition 4 to repeal the State Personal Income Tax were:

1. The treasury at Sacramento is bulging with an enormous surplus and this surplus is made up, in part, by personal income taxes paid by hundreds of thousands of people throughout the state;
2. Payments of such taxes are deducted from Federal income taxes, to the disadvantage of the Federal government in the conduct of the war. In this way the State Personal Income Tax diverts large sums of money from the war effort and piles up that money in a useless surplus in the state treasury.
3. Money for Bonds, Taxes. This occurs at a time of great crisis, when the Federal government desperately needs money to carry on the war.
4. Repeal will increase the ability of every man and woman to meet the huge and growing Federal taxes, which are fast reaching down to even the lowest income brackets.
5. Repeal will leave the average citizen with a little more money to meet rising costs of living and buy War Bonds and Stamps.
6. It is good, common sense to prepare ourselves to meet these essential taxes by repeal of the unnecessary and duplicating state personal income tax.

Judge Adams, Champion Of Underprivileged, Seeks Superior Bench

Friends of Judge Ida May Adams, who are predicting her election to the Superior court bench in Los Angeles Aug. 25, point out the fact that she has devoted her brilliant career to the purpose of helping the underprivileged.

One of her greatest contributions was to the American Indian. Before Judge Adams drew up the Indian bill and had it passed by Congress, the Redskin was denied a hundred privileges, including that of sending his children to a public school. The judge's legislation resulted in the Indian receiving full citizenship rights. For 11 years Judge Adams has presided on the municipal court bench. Friends say she will step up to superior court Aug. 25.

This Yarn's Got to be True!

An American reporter, Robert J. Casey of the Chicago Daily News foreign service, wrote the yarn—and it must have got by the Navy censor, else his paper couldn't have printed it.

It seems a U. S. sub, prowling darily in Tokyo bay, spotted a huge liner in the process of being converted into an aircraft carrier. The sub's commander swore a mighty sea oath. For the liner was out of the water, on the ways, and there is no way for a sub to toss a torpedo up on dry land.

The unattainable prize became an obsession with the commander. He stuck around for weeks. By day, while his sub lay on the harbor floor, he'd ponder the problem. By night he'd rise to the surface, turn his periscope on the liner—and swear his fierce sea oaths.

Time came when the submarine, its supplies low, had to leave. The commander poked his periscope above water for a last, bold, desperate, daylight peek at the ship. A great crowd was gathered at the yard. Admirals were there. A brass band was playing. Workmen were knocking out the props. Somebody smashed a bottle of sake and the carrier, gleaming and complete, slid down the ways. As she hit the water, two tin fish from the sub hit her. The carrier plopped right on down to the bottom of the harbor.

"It was," observes reporter Casey, "the most complete launching ever seen in Tokyo."

The sub came on home. True? Of course the story's true, in every detail! It's a Yankee story of a Yankee feat. It's as Yankee as John Paul Jones, as a New England boiled dinner, as Molly Fitcher, as ham and eggs. It's the best war story since wars began on earth. It's got to be true!

WAR-TIME CHALICES
Chaplains with U. S. armed forces are using chalices made of gold-plate over an iron base. Copper and brass will not be used to manufacture articles of religious devotion until after the war.

One thousand field pieces in an hour's firing burn up as much sugar as could be refined from a field two-thirds of a mile square.

NEW TYPE OF SPONGE
A Buffalo, N. Y., concern is making a new type of sponge sweatband to keep the sweat from running into the eyes of war production workers; they had to find substitutes for glycerine and gum rubber.
